7.   A computer program product for a video encoder that comprises a set of instructions, which when loaded into the video encoder, causes the video encoder to carry out the processing method as claimed in claim[s] 1 [to 4].